

How to Recycle Used Cooking Oil

City of Columbia - Southern Fried Fuel Program

Used Cooking Oil Recycling Program Guidelines

- The program is available for City of Columbia residents only.
- City residents may drop off used cooking oil and grease for recycling at the Public Works Facility, 2910 Colonial Drive (directions) from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.
- Residents should transport used oil in a clean, non-breakable, leak-proof container with a tight lid. Cooking oil should be free of water, soap suds and food scraps.
- After recycling the cooking oil, residents should take back the containers for reuse, recycling or proper disposal.
- All types of cooking oils, fats and grease are accepted, but they cannot be mixed with motor oil.
- Motor oil is not accepted for recycling at the Public Works Facility. For used motor oil recycling sites, click here or call DHEC's Office of Solid Waste Reduction and Recycling at 1-800-SO-USE-IT.

Lexington County is now recycling cooking oil! Now you can properly dispose of used cooking oil by taking it to any Lexington County Collection and Recycling Center. Each center is equipped with a special container to capture used cooking oil. For more information about recycling in Lexington County visit www.lex-co.sc.gov/solidwaste.

Richland County Solid Waste and Recycling is now accepting cooking oil! Limited Locations!

They are only taking cooking oil at the staffed location which include the Lower Richland Drop Off Site and our C&D Sites.

You can now recycle cooking oil at 900 Clemson Road Recycling Center. This can only be done though on Monday-Friday from 8:00am to 4:00pm!
